Egg Hunt Saturday

Well, Happy Easter Sunday to all of you . . . My, my, my how time does fly, now on to Memorial Day and the Fourth of July, it just won't be long.

— CT —

Spring has sprung as of March 20 and now we can look forward to Daylight Saving Time the latter part of April. Looking over the Legislative maneuvering in Washington, there is a joker by the name of Congressman Craig Hosmer, who is sponsoring a bill to make Daylight Savings a year 'round event. He says it will lessen crime and give more time to families during the fall and winter months.

— CT —

The way I look at it, anyway you slice it, there are only 24-hours in a day, how a family chooses to spend them . . . . Well, that's a whole new can of worms. Sixty per cent of the children will be going to school in the dark, and during the winter and fall months with Daylight Savings time in effect they will have darkness until around nine a.m.

— CT —

Still looking at it . . . . during the winter months there are only about nine hours of daylight, no matter how you slice it, and you are going to have a certain amount of crime, so all I can see is a switch from evening crime to morning crime, if that is the excuse.

— CT —

If everyone is so damn concerned about family time, why doesn't someone put an additional month in the calendar and declare it family month . . . Everyone take that month off to be with the family . . . But I suppose if the Government would do this, they would impose more taxes and you would have to work that extra month to pay them . . . You just cannot win.

— CT —

Times are really getting tough all over . . . Take for instance the small boy and his mother who went to the local movie house one day last week, it being the boy's first movie in a theatre.

— CT —

After watching the picture for a while, the mother noticed he was chewing gum. She leaned over and whispered, "Willie, where in the world did you get that gum?" . . . "Under the seat, mother, didn't you get yours?" . . . It is quite a temptation, specially for a small boy.

— CT —

And of course that is not half as bad as the explanation of father to a son, when son asked . . . "Dad, what's the difference between a gun and a machinegun?"

— CT —

Father, being busy with the evening paper answered: "Well, son, there's a big difference. To explain it more in detail . . . It's just like I speak and then your mother speaks." I wonder why women do talk so fast and say so little?

— CT —

I recently had a meeting with a couple members of our famous Search and Rescue Team. You know Volunteers are a wonderful thing . . You know like the Candy Stripers, the Woman's Auxiliary at the Hospital, the Rose Float Team, your Volunteer Firefighters . . . The volunteers that give their time for Boy and Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, Blue Birds, Baseball and the thousands of other volunteers, brings me to the following story:

— CT —

"Paul Revere, Joan of Arc and Don Quixote all had something in common. They were amateurs. They didn't receive a penny for their efforts, yet they did what they did. Something drove them to maximum effort, and it wasn't a weekly paycheck."

— CT —

What they had in common was, of course, motivation . . . A vital ingredient in your successful career as an independent businessman, a teenager or an average citizen.

This year over 300 dozen eggs have been cooked and colored by your Firefighters and will be hidden in various places around the Park, together with some 60 Golden Eggs. The child or children finding the Golden Eggs will turn them in to a Firefighter and will receive a very nice Easter basket.

The Annual Party will be at Memorial Park, Sierra Madre at exactly 10 a.m. o'clock, sharp, when the children are turned loose the party does not last too long, so if you are late you may be completely out of luck.

The funds for this party are provided for out of the Christmas Dance Fund held each December by your Volunteers.

A Question On Sewer District 95?

Ordered to form Sewer District No. 95, Engineer of Work Larry Bevington placed the 23 zones for bid, having estimated that the cost of construction would be in the vicinity of $367,500.

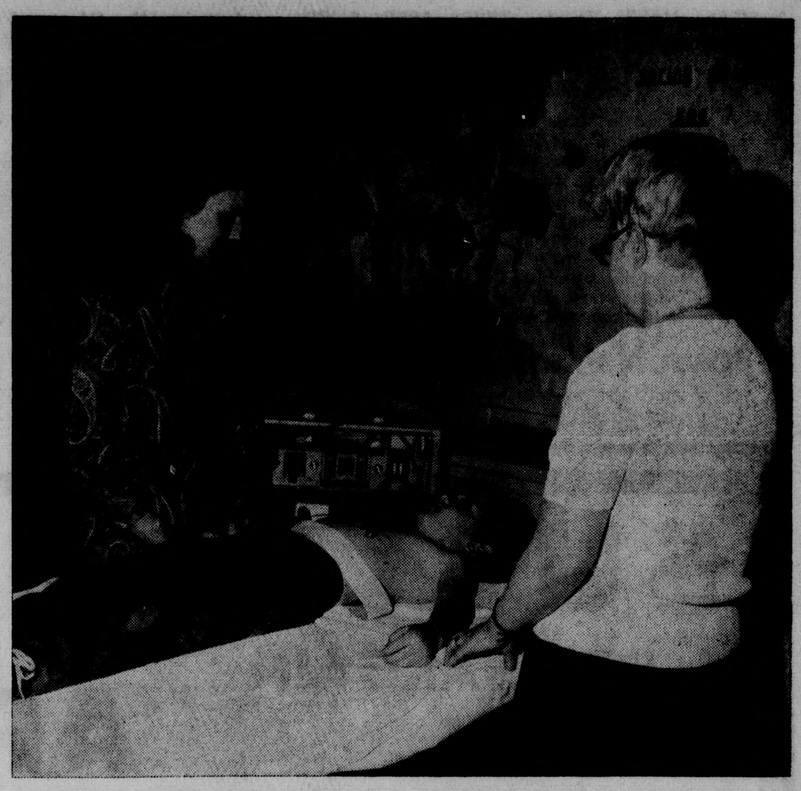

Bids having been called to be opened on February 13, 1973 found that 15 bids had been submitted and that the lowest bidder was Construction Masters, Inc. of Woodland Hills.

Work started on the installation of the main trunk of the line the forepart of March and at the present time is progressing according to the work schedule set down for them.

Now that the crew of Construction Masters is on the job and working, it is known that many questions have come to the mind of the property owners affected, and to answer those questions, Gene F. Polhamus, acting assistant of the general superintendent has secured a local telephone number that is an answering service, and when called will refer you to them and they will contact you for all questions concerning your sewers. The number to call and leave word is 355-3303.

Construction Masters estimate that they will be in the area with construction and installation for about the next ten to twelve weeks. At the present time they are working in the area of Ramona Avenue and Michillina. They have set up temporary construction headquarters at the spreading grounds at Grandview and Sycamore.

Advice is gladly given concerning your sewer line and its laterals, feel free to give them a call at any time.

DAVID DUGDALE, fourth grade student at Marshall Elementary School in San Gabriel, has his heart tested in a current Heart Association screening program being conducted in 10 schools in the Garvey School District. Heart Association volunteer technician Mrs. Pat Kammert of Monterey Park, left, and PTA aide Mrs. Dugdale conduct the test.

Children In 10 Schools Tested

Volunteers Offer Heart Testing For School Pupils

More than 800 fourth grade students in the Garvey School District are being tested for hidden heart problems this month in a two week session April 2 through 16 sponsored by the West San Gabriel Valley Division of the Los Angeles County Heart Association.

Children in ten schools are being screened in a painless test in which their heart sounds are compared to normal heart patterns programmed into a small computer called the Phono-CardioScan. Skilled volunteer technicians, assisted by PTA aides conduct the test.

If a questionable heart sound is recorded, the child is rescreened on another machine by another technician. If the screening is still questionable, the results are checked by a volunteer cardiologist. If further evaluation is needed, a report is sent to the child's parents, and to the family physician.

"We try to prepare the children so that they will be comfortable about participating in the screening," says Mrs. Margaret Chapin, local Heart Association heart sounds screening committee head, "by showing them a slide presentation explaining the program." In addition, teachers and school nurses distribute various educational materials furnished by the Heart Association which are designed to familiarize students with the functons of the heart and circulatory system.

The purpose of the program is to detect suspected heart disease so that needless future disability or death may be prevented. The testing is also designed to discover innocent mummurs.

It is not unusual for children between the ages of four and seven to develop a murmur which is not considered dangerous and is usually outgrown by adolescence.

Mrs. Patricia Books of San Gabriel and Mrs. Pat Kammert of Monterey Park are the Heart Association volunteer technicians conducting the screening.

In addition to the program in the Garvey District, five schools in the Rosemead School District will screen their fourth graders between April 23 and 27. Heart Association technicians conducting the tests will be: Joanne Buffalo, Nellie Davis, Delores Nelson, Pat Pitts, and Carol Stonvipher.

Annual Boy Scout Banquet

Marcus Woodward To Be Honored Tues., April 24

One of Sierra Madre's grandest citizens, Marcus A. Woodward of 99 Suffolk, will be honored Tuesday night. April 24th, by the San Gabriel Valley Boy Scout Council for his outstanding efforts in making the 1973 Sustained Membership Enrollment program a great success.

Mr. Woodward is chairman of the Council's Alumni Association and leads all other scout groups in attaining the highest percentage of contributions for the scout council this year. He has been closely associated with scouting for more than fifty years, is a member of the Honorary Board of Directors of the San Gabriel Valley Council.

Mr. Woodward along with other Valley leaders will receive honors from Joe Busch, Los Angeles District Attorney and honorary chairman of the Sustained Membership Enrollment Program. A fine barbecue dinner will begin at 6 p.m. at the scout headquarters, 540 No. Rosemead Boulevard, Pasadena, with several hundred campaign leaders attending, according to Gayle Parrack, Council SME chairman.

The Sustained Membership Enrollment program is an annual event for the San Gabriel Valley Council and is dedicated to the raising of funds for the support of the scout movement in the Council area. Some 22,000 scouts and some 10,000 adult leaders are involved in the San Gabriel Valley program. Parrack emphasizes that it takes $20 to support one boy in the program and the program is for all boys. We must enhance Boy Power for adult citizenship leadership, he stresses.

"Our barbecue banquet this year is our Goal Attainment Banquet and we will recognize all leaders who have helped in supporting the scout program," Parrack said. "If community leaders and group still desire to contribute to the San Gabriel Valley Boy Scout Sustained Membership Enrollment program, we would be pleased if they would call us at the scout center, 540 North Rosemead Boulevard, Pasadena,

Surprise! Tax Rate Is Up

The average tax rate in California for 1972-73 increased one cent over the previous year, from $11.43 to $11.44, and the per-person property tax burden rose $18.05, from $312.30 in 1971-72 to $330.35 in 1972-73, an increase of 5.8 per cent. This was announced in Sacramento by State Board of Equalization Member George R. Reilly.

Pursuant to Section 11403 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, the Board of Equalization computes the average rate of taxation in the state by adding the 1972-73 county, city, school district, and other general and special district taxes, but not special assessments, and divides the amount so obtained by the total net assessed valuation in the state as shown by the 1972 county tax rolls.

Los Angeles County advanced .05 per cent; per capita increased about $16 per person. New rate is now about $12.02 average.

In announcing the grant, Moorhead stated: "I am pleased to announce this latest Housing and Urban Development grant which will go a long way towards providing satisfactory park facilities in the Pasadena area. At a time when the emphasis is often placed on technology and industrial growth, I feel that it is important for us to preserve and develop those areas where we can all enjoy the beauty of nature and the benefits of outdoor activity."

Charles Appleby Marries San Pedro Girl On St. Patrick's Day

MR. and MRS. CHARLES APPLLEBY .... Nee Ellen Berry

Saturday, March 17 was the day picked by Ellen Berry of San Pedro and Charles "Chuck" Appleby of Sierra Madre to exchange marriage vows. The 2:30 p.m. ceremony took place in Campbell Chapel at the Sierra Madre Congregational Church with the Rev. Richard Anderson officiating.

Mr. Appleby is the son of long-time Sierra Madre residents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen C. Appleby of 184 South Lima, while the bride is the daughter of Mrs. George Mayor Russell of Rolling Hills and the late Mr. Russell.

The bride wore a full length, sleeveless gown with a white bodice and a pink and green floral print skirt. She carried a nosegay of pink roses, white and yellow daisies. In place of a veil, she wore a bandeau of fresh flowers in her hair.

Pamela Scanell of San Pedro, attended her aunts as bridesmaid. She wore a pink floor length, long-sleeved gown and carried a nosegay of white and yellow daisies. Her headpiece was also a bandeau of white and yellow daisies.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Robert Pehl of Pasadena. The bride's nephew, Mike Scanell of San Pedro served as an usher as did her son, Mark Berry.

Mother of the bride, Mrs. Russell was attired in a biege Gibson Girl style blouse and navy skirt and wore a champagne colored orchid corsage. Mrs. Appleby wore a floor-length orange gown with long sleeves and pleated skirt. She also wore an orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding reception for 75 guests was held at the Appleby home. Hors o'oeuvres, campagne and a three-tiered wedding cake were served to those attending. The wedding cake would certainly agree with everyone's taste as each tier was a different flavor — chocolate, marble and white!

An alumnae of Rolling Hills High School, the bride also attended Harbor City College and is presently employed with the United California Bank in San Pedro. Her bridegroom graduated from PHS and PCC and works in the City of Industry with Sierra Madrean Bob Bettencourt's importing firm.

Job commitments of both Ellen and Chuck allowed only for a short wedding trip at the Disneyland Hotel. The couple, now making their home in San Pedro, are planning an extended honeymoon trip scheduled for this summer.

Spring Planning For Shakespeare Jrs.; Schedule Tennis, Golf, Dinner Fun

The Shakespeare Club Juniors of Pasadena have devised a great way to celebrate the coming of Spring. They're planning a couples tennis - golf tournament to be held Saturday, May 12, followed by a barbeque dinner. Twelve couples will have a round-robin tennis tournament on the Pasadena High School tennis courts while twelve additional couples will play nine holes of golf at the Eaton Golf Course. Winners of both sports will be awarded trophies at the dinner afterward at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Martin, 5741 Summit Crest, La Canada.

This marks the club's last sports event after an active year of bowling one morning each month at the Bahama Lanes in Pasadena and three series of tennis lessons at both Hamilton and Grant parks in Pasadena for beginning and intermediate players.

The Hoedown last summer included husbands as couples square-danced and barbequed their steak dinners. A big attraction last month was a bus trip with the husbands to see the Los Angeles Lakers play against the Buffalo Bills.

Mrs. Richard J. Martin, chairman of sports, planned the years sports involvement along with her vice chairmen: Mrs. Henry A. Ojendyk, Mrs. Joseph R. Sallinger, Jr., and Mrs. Burton M. Tibbet.

A Mardi Gras Ball for the Shakespeare Club Juniors and their husbands is planned for the evening of Saturday, June 2. The dinner-dance will be held in the Georgian Room of the Huntington - Sheraton Hotel in Pasadena. Cocktails will be served at 7:30 p.m. followed by a roast prime rib of beef dinner. Also included will be shrimp louie garni, string beans almondine, potatoes rissole, and meringue glace with strawberries.

Mrs. Frank Dyer, chairman of the event, has arranged for the music of Bill Sands to entertain the guests following the meal. Assisting her in the arrangements are Mrs. Bahnsen Jacobsen, Mrs. Joseph A. Plamondon, Mrs. Richard C.

As Hank Ives Sees It!

BALTIMORE TO CAPTURE A.L. EAST

Out of the rains and floods of the East fly the Baltimore Orioles to capture first place in the 1973 running of the Amercia League East. Not an easy task, for sure, because Weaver can expect nothing but trouble from the upstart Yankees, the aging, but always tough Tigers and the powerful Red Sox.

BALTIMORE . . . Chucking is solid with McNally, Cuellar and Palmer and good relief hurling with Alexander and Wat. Williams will provide great punch back of the plate and the infeld is sound all the way around the horn. The outfield may lack some of the muscle of the past but their are some new hotshots who get better with age.

NEW YORK . . . Yankees are picked to edge the Red Sox and Tigers but all three can be tossed into a grab bag. Bombers have good starters in Stottlemyre, Peterson, Kline and Kekich, but young hurlers will have to help in relief. Munson is good for 140 games behind the plate. Nettles fills a big need for punch at third so infield sn't bad at all. Murcer may have a big year to lead strong outfield trio. Both of the Alous will help.

BOSTON . . . Beantowners always show promise but seldom make it at the end of the line. Many big bombers in the lineup but pitching is always a bit shoddy behind Tiant and Pattin. That's why they are tabbed for third. Yas should have a big year and Reggie Smith could contend for batting title. Overall there is some age at key ponts, like shotstop and the catching is only so-so.

DETROIT . . . . Pitching holds the key, just as it does with all four of the top contenders. Coleman, Lolich and Fryman are tops and there are some good young arms on the way up. Freehan and Sims give solid catching. Infield shows signs of age. Same old gang in the outfeld. Oldsters must put it together to get to the top. And what ever happened to Willie Horton. Wouldn't he look good in an Angel uniform?

CLEVELAND . . . How far can Gaylord Perry carry the Indians pitching staff? Young infield still improving and the outfield looks better each year. Too many question marks overall to rate them a real contender.

MILWAUKEE . . . . Will win enough to knock off the contenders from time to time. Parsons, Slaton, Lockwood and Bell lend some credence to what Del Crandall thinks will be a good mound staff. Power is adequate and overall the team will be a surprise.

LITTLE THIS-N-THAT . . . Hankus figures that Bill Walton's play in the NCAA finals against Memphis State, was the best single individual effort in sports in a game of that importance. So why does he have to be such a loser when it comes to being interviewed after a game?

HANKUS LIKES THE UTAH STARS to win the ABA championship this year. Willie Wise will rise the occasion and spark the transplanted Los Angeles quintet all the way.

EVERYONE was wondering what happened to the Sports crowds last week. The Dodgers played to just 24,000 for their opener with the awesome Cincinnatis. The Angels had just 6,900 for Nolan Ryan against Minnesota the same night. The Sharks had just 4,728 for their home opener in the first round of the playoffs against Houston. Hollypark opened to just 31,000 and fell to 19,000 the next day. Could it be that Uncle Sam's tax bite took too much of a dent in the old pocket book?

HOCKEY COULD GO CLEAR into May on the local level if the Sharks finish off Houston and Winnipeg and then go at Cleveland or New England in the championship finals. Either way, it has been a highly successful campaign for the Sharks.

Arcadia Library Friends Hold Book Sale

Something new has been added. A special collection of first editions for sale will be a new feature of the Friends of the Arcadia Library scheduled for Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5 in the arts and lecture room of the library.

Long known by the catchy title, Twice Sold Tales, the Friends two-day event has gained a reputation locally for the numbers of its volumes — more than 10,000 each year — for the scope of the subject matter, and for the quality of the books.

In addition, this year customers can choose from among hundreds of first editions, arranged for sale by former head librarian of the Arcadia Library and one of the co-chairmen of the booksale, Judith Moore.

Mrs. Moore's co-chairman, Mrs. Cay Mohtensen says that this year's booksale will have several other "come-one's." One is an especially abundant supply of books tailored to men's reading tastes — tennis, chess, westerns — including several of Zane Grey's — and books of humor.

The biographies section is particularly well - stocked says Mrs. Mortensen. "You name the person, his or her biography is there," and she cites a few — the Duke of Windsor, Mickey Mantle, Richard Nixon, Robert E. Lee, and Maverick Mayor Yorty.

The more than 10,000 books have been collected and sorted over the past year by a booksale committee — all volunteers — and they will be presented for sale arranged in subject categories such as philosophy and religion; psychology and social sciences; political science; natural sciences; health, medicine and sex; the arts; engineering; and the ever popular "How To" category. According to the sorting committee this section has become a catchall for everything that doesn't belong anywhere else. It may be a manual on how to repair a 1935 Dodge; how to make fudge; play baseball or win friends and influence people.

The two largest and most popular sections are the children's books and novels, which will be alphabetically arranged by author for the first time this year.

"One of the reasons our sale has been so successful through the years," says the president of the Arcadia Friends, Mrs. Robert Huddy, "is that we continue to price the books very low. The average cost is 25 cents. The top price for a novel is 50 cents, and many books sell for 5 and 10 cents. There is even a penny ante section."

"No one can resist those bargains," says Mrs. Huddy, who was chairman of the booksale two years in the past.

The sale runs from noon until 9 p.m. on Friday, May 4, and from 9:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. on Saturday, May 5.

Hint to public speakers: Profanity does not improve oratory.

Neighbors . . .

It's spring at the Pasadena - Foothill Valley YWCA, 78 N. Marengo, with new, fresh and exciting adult classes and activities for all ages, starting the week of April 23.

The Camerata Musicale, an ensemble of eight singers and players, will perform secular and religious pieces spanning the Renaissance at a concert sponored by UCLA Extension, Wednesday, April 18, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., in Room 147 Social Welfare Building at UCLA.

Happiness is in part the conclusion that you can't remake people or the world.

Guitar Classes Still Open

The Sierra Madre Parks and Recreation Department announces that there are still openings in the Spring Guitar Classes, under the professional instruction of Don Better, well known for his teaching in the area.

Classes for all age groups, eight years and up are designed for beginning, intermediate and advanced players. Cost of the course is $7. Interested future musicians should contact Mike Moore, Recreation Supervisor at 355-2355 or visit the Recreation Center at 611 E. Sierra Madre Blvd. for registration.

that all excess monies received from the dance will go for extra and needed equipment that will place the department in a position to be of more and better service to the community. It has been the determination of the membersship to do extra work to accumulate this equipment instead of applying for it through the Taxpayer method. The membership has found them selves with an insufficient number of the pocket receivers purchased with the proceed of last year's dance and additional radios will be one of the first goals. Further details and definite announcement of the dance will be forthcoming, as soon as they are finalized.

When care means everything

There are times when care, and care alone, means everything. That's why at Rose Hills we are not just another mortuary. We stress the importance of care and understanding above all else.

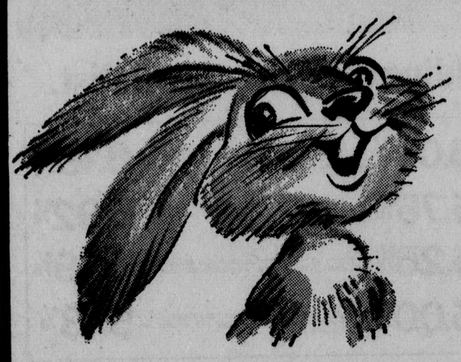

It was a care for beauty that led to the creation, more than a half century ago, of the world's most naturally beautiful memorial park.

It was an understanding of people's needs that led us to establish a mortuary. We offer every needed service — mortuary, cemetery, chapels, flower shops, mausoleums and crematory — all at one convenient location.

Care . . . and understanding. At Rose Hills, we think they mean a lot.

Entries so far received for the sixth annual Sierra Madre - Mt. Wilson race indicate that the record established last year by Paul Westerlund is likely to fall next Wednesday. During the week the names of Phillip Zeyouma and Alber Ray, the Sherman Institute Indians, have been added to the list and at least one other Indian runner will try for the record . . . Officials for the event will be chiefly sports writers on the Los Angeles papers, including Tate of the Tribune, Berger of the Herald, Lientz of the Express, Frayne of the Record, and Waddell of the Times. In addition Bob Weaver of the AAU, J. Raymond Hunt of the Spalding store, and J. A. Patterson, and C. J. Fox will act. The race will be started from the business section of Sierra Madre as was done last year. The runners will be sent away about 8:30 o'clock. For the purpose of comparison of the time with previous races the previous records are given here: 1908, Joseph B. King, 1:25:30, Ed Wietrich, 1:29:30; 1910, Adolphus Gregg, 1:25:56; 1911, Landa C. Farley, 1:29:32; 1912, Paul Westerlund 7 & 4/5 mile), 1:21:56. (Previous races started from foot of trail making course only 7 & 1/10 miles.)

How To Fluff the Hair — Hair in the dog days is tryingly flat and stringly. It can be fluffed and made to stand out well from the head even without curling by brushing it with an outward twist of the wrist that lifts the hair up from the scalp. For this brushing divide the hair into strands and go over the head in a circle; then begin farther up and continue until all the hair has been lifted and lightened. If this style of brushing is kept up daily or even several times a week the straightest and stringiest hair soon becomes dry and easy to puff out from the face.

New Hot Breads — How to Make Breakfast Corn Loaf and Biscuits — The test which every breakfast bread must meet when it reaches the table concerns its delicacy of taste and texture. The test which it must answer if it is to be a favorite with the cooks concerns the time required to make it. Following are some recipes which meet both tests. They are of delicious taste, of light, firm grain and can be quickly made. Any breakfast bread should cool slightly on a cloth before it is put on a plate to be sent to the table, so that it will not cause the plate to become moist and itself become soggy. Loaf corn bread is an agreeable change from corn muffins. To make it beat two eggs together, add a tablespoonful of melted lard, two cupfuls of milks and two cupfuls of corn meal sifted with one cupful of white, one tablespoonful of sugar, two teaspoons of baking powder and a teaspoonful of salt. Beat hard and bake in a round tin with a hole in the center. Cool a little before slicing. Wheat puffs, known also as popovers and robbers' caves, are especially tempting on a sultry, heavy morning. Make them by adding two unbeaten eggs and two cupfuls of milk to two cupfuls of flour. Beat all thoroughly with an egg beater. Drop in greased tins or earthenware cups. Eat as soon as they are done.

Senior Citizens Month of March

The members of the Senior Citizens' Club were saddened by the passing of three former members, Effie Pratt, Vivian Singleton who was a charter member of the club, and Bill Peters.

One of the club's programs for March was Margaret Doran of the Sierra Madre Library. She brought along several so-called "Gold Bond" books. Included were "Japanese Garden," which sells for $75; "Galloping Gourmet Cook Book, $25; together with "Kingdom of the Shell" and one on Mexican cooking. She reviewed several new books and a lot of preparation went into presentation which was enjoyed by the membership.

The second program was on St. Patrick's Day. The club wsa delightfully entertained by Mr. George Health with Mary Schaper at the piano. He sang Irish songs and the members joined in on the chorus. They showed their appreciation of his talents by asking him and Mary to come back real soon.

The club is looking forward to having Stan Moyer and his singers on April 21. It will be an Easter program at which they will sing the songs so inspiring at that time.

The tours fill up very fast and in June there will be a trip to Hawaii.

On May 5th the club will celebrate its 10th year, honoring all past presidents and charter members.

Bingo is played the last Saturday.

5. QUESTION: Must all firm presently doing business under fictitious names file new statements?

6. QUESTION: Must all firms doing business under a fictitious name publish at the time of filing?

ANSWER: Yes, publication will be required when re-filing is made at the end of each five year period if there has been any "change in information" which makes a new statement differ from the old one. If there have been no changes in the statement from one five year period to the next, no additional publication will be required. However, this issue cannot be raised until 1976 and the years thereafter.

14. QUESTION: Is it mandatory that a single style of printed form be used in filing and publishing of Fictitious Name Statements?

ANSWER: County Counsel of Los Angeles County has ruled that any form is acceptable provided it is of the 8½ by 11-inch dimensions prescribed by the State Judicial Council for forms, and provided it embraces all items specified in Section 17913 of the Business and Professions Code, and without regard to other material that may be printed on the forms for identification or informational purposes.

Q. — I have been told that the Dow-Jones Industrial Average is an "arithmetic" average and that it isn't as accurate as the Standard & Poor's 400 Industrials because the latter is a "weighted" average. Would you explain the difference?

A. — Both averages are accurate. They are just computed in different ways. They are designed to indicate trends and serve as a measuring device or an index with which you can make comparisons. The D-J Average started when 30 stocks considered to be representative of all of the industrial companies in the Nation were chosen. Their prices were added up and diivded by 30. In other words, the average was a simple arithmetic average of the price of the stocks of the 30 companies. Over the years, the list of stocks has changed. Also, the total of the prices is no longer divided by 30. As stocks split or paid stock dividends, it became necessary to adjust the divisor from 30 to a figure that would keep the average comparable to what it would have been without the change in number of shares. The divisor is now only 1.661. You will find this divisor and the list of 30 stocks in the D-J Industrial Averages listed each Monday on the inside back page of the Wall Street Journal.

The S & P Average is "weighted" because it is computed by taking the price of each of the 400 stocks in the average and multiplying them by the number of shares of each outstanding. All of these totals are added together and divided by the total number of shares outstanding for all 400 companies. This average is affected more by a company with many shares outstanding than by a company with fewer shares. Thus it is said to be weighted or designed to move in relation to the total value placed upon all of the companies in the index rather than just by their stock price movements alone. Thus a one dollar change in the price of General Motors with its 286 million common shares outstanding would affect this average more than would a dollar move in 50 other companies in the index with five million shares each outstanding.

There are a number of other stock market averages computed these days. Computers have made the computation of these indices much easier. None of the newer ones, however, have the advantage of the long history of the Dow.

Q. — During 1951-54, I purchased four Mutual Funds, and my broker sold me on the idea of holding them for 25 years to provide for my retirement. About 1962, another broker sold me on the idea of selling one of the Funds and switching to another. When I switched, the cost of the Fund I bought was $4.51 a share; in a few months, it split two-for-one and is now about $2 a share. It only pays a sporadic dividend of one cent. Would it be wise to try to find another switch, or should I continue to hold for a few more years?

A. — First, let us say that your broker who sold you on a switch in 1962 seems to have done you a favor. While he didn't get you into a Fund that did well in the following ten years, he did get you into a Fund that did better than the one you were in. As I read the figures, you are about 10 per cent better off than you would have been without the switch.

Secondly, if you have only received pennies in dividends from this Fund, you haven't been getting all you have coming. The dividends

Wyman, of Los Angeles, took title to the former Blumer estate, later known as the Brice Academy property, consisting of four acres near Auburn and Carter avenues in Alta Sierra Madre. It is considered one of the finest view lots in the city and is adorned with a magnificent stand of eucalpyptus trees. The consideration was not stated. The Wymans have already started a comprehensive landscaping scheme and plan extensive improvements to the buildings. Easter Services At Congregational Church: The 'Sepulchre and the Sun'

"The Sepulchre and the Sun," will be the Easter Sunday sermon topic of the Rev. Richard J. Anderson, pastor of the Sierra Madre Congregational Church.

Rev. Anderson states: "'And when the Sabbath was pased, Mary Magdalene and Mary, the mother of James, and Salome had brought sweet spices that they might come and anoint Him.' And very early in the morning, the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun. The sepulchre was a tomb cut out of a rock. It was situated in a garden cemetery near Golgatha, or Calvary, the place where Jesus was crucified.

"This was a borrowed tomb. In chapter 15, verse 43 it says "Joseph of Arimathaea, an honorable counsellor, which also waited for the kingdom of God, came and went boldly unto Pilote, and craved the body of Jesus. And Pilote marvelled if He were already dead; and calling unto him the centurion, he gave the body to Joseph. And he bought fine linen, and took Him down, and wrapped Him in the linen, and laid Him in a sepulchre which had been hewn out of a rock, and rolled a stone unto the door of the sepulchre.'

"This is the way in which Jesus was buried. The Scripture further tells us that Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of James were there watching His burial. And the sepulchre symbolizes all that death brings to us when it strikes very closely one whom we have loved. The sepulchre symbolizes grief, loss, emptiness, loneliness."

Pastor Anderson continues, "Christianity does not shield us from the sepulchres of life, but it offers us something more, something beyond, something to follow. Our text tells us, 'And very early in the morning, the first day of the week, they (that is the women) came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun," and now we see the symbol of the message of Christ. If we tell only of the sepulchre we tell the truth, but not the whole truth. There is the rising of the morning sun, the warmth and glory of a new day and to the Christian resurrection is not just some vague hope, a whistling in the dark, or a Santa Claus myth. To the Christian the resurrection is as real and certain as the rising of the sun after a night of darkness. It is just as certain as the radiant glow of a new life in Spring, following the storms of a bitter winter.

"What is your sepulchre today? What is it that brings you into grief, loneliness and perhaps despair? Can you see beyond it? Do you have the certainty of the resurrection in relation to your sepulchre?"

Pastor Anderson concludes with: "Let Jesus be your resurrection today. God will send His angels to roll back the stone from the door of your sepulchre, and then the early morning rays of the risen sun will send their bright shafts through the open entrance of your tomb to enlighten and warm it with the glory and the joy that truly Christ is risen."

S. A. Church To Herald Easter With 'Fanfare'

"Fanfare" by the French Horn Ensemble composed of members of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra will herald the opening of the Easter Sunday services, 9 and 11 a.m. at The Santa Anita Church. Dr. Margaret M. Stevens, minister, in her Easter message, "Resurrection — Here and Now," will relate the Easter story to your story and your experience of victory over darkness and fear. "You can experience resurrection here and now through the Christ presence in you," says the Rev. Stevens. Mackey V. Swan, soloist, and Helen Natzke, organist, will also feature special Easter music.

The Santa Anita Church is located at 226 West Colorado Boulevard, Arcadia, and offers child care for both services, with Junior Church meeting at 11 a.m. The Junior Church young people will meet in Fellowship Hall at 10:45 a.m. to receive their flowers to place on the Living Cross in the sanctuary at the 11 a.m. service. They will then go to their own Easter service in Inspiration Chapel and hear the Easter story led by the Junior Church director, Mrs. Peggy Schmal. The children will also be presented a potted plant donated by Mr. Edward Wales. You and your family are cordially invited to share this wonderful Easter program with the church family.

2 Easter Services At Faith Lutheran

Two Easter services and other events are planned at Faith Lutheran Church, 845 Hastings Ranch Drive.

The Outdoor Easter service will be conducted at 6:30 a.m. by the young people of the congregation. Jane Fader's Easter drama "A Risen Savior" will be presented by the cast comprised of Lori Hingst, Denise Sheppard, Charlotte Fromme, Philip Putnam and Kevin Williams. Steev Martinez and Marek Helstrom will be the service leaders. Ann Goeppinger will be the song leader.

From 7:15 to 8:30, the young people will serve an Easter breakfast in the parish hall as a fellowship event for all who wish to attend.

At 9, the Sunday School, Youth and Adult Bible classes will meet in the sanctuary for an Easter devotional period. Children are welcome to bring Easter lilies to decorate a wooden cross, according to William Reed, superintendent. Thereafter the Sanctuary Adult Bible Class will proceed with the study-discussion on the Upper Room discourses of Jesus.

The Congregational Easter service will be conducted in the sanctuary at 10:30. In addition to the day's Gradual and Introit, the Senior Choir will sing Bunge's "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth." Steven Martinez will be the trumpeter. Pastor Armin Hesse's Easter message will be entitled "Resurrection Credibility." For her organ selections, Marilyn Baumbach has chosen "Christ Ist Erstanden" Muller-Zurich; "Lento." Purvis, and "Fuge in G Minor," Dupre.

The Good Friday Tenebrae Service of Darkness is scheduled at 7:30 p.m.

Easter Services At Bethany Lutheran

"Come share the joy of this blessed Easter with us!" is the invitation issued by Bethany Lutheran Church.

The 7 o'clock Sunrise Service at Bethany Church, located at 2666 La Tierra St., East Pasadena, will begin with the blowing of the trumpet. Special music will be provided by the "Celebration," Chris Bannister, Candy Farrell, Carol Thompson and Phyllis Smilonich. The tradition of rising with the sun on Easter morn comes from the ancient belief that those who witnessed sun up on a certain day in spring would be blessed with good health, fortune and fair good crops.

Easter breakfast will be served at 8 o'clock by the Church Council.

At 9 o'clock the Sunday school young people will visit and sing for the patients at Park Marino Convalescent Home.

"The Weight Lifter," is the topic of the sermon to be given by Pastor Mark Huggenvik, at the 10 o'clock service. Special music will be provided by David Garvin and the Youth Choirs.

The church says, "We especially invite the interested public who do not attend any church. Come and share with us this most ancient and important festival of the Christian year!

The man, or woman, who learns to laugh, at himself or herself, even privately, is making some progress.

Few people study to discover the truth; most of us and perpetuate our prejudices.

Spring Planning

Smauels, and Mrs. Charles J. Schaffer.

The festive Mardi Gras decorations will include large masks New Orleans style and numerous posters. Elaborate centerpieces using a red, hot pink, and gold color scheme will incorporate wine bottles, masks, and handmade paper flowers. These have been designed by Mrs. Laurence E. Mollner, the club's decorations chairman. Mrs. Michael Teobaldi and Mrs. Richard J. Ward, her vice chairmen, will lend her assistance for the project.

College

Egg Display At Republic Fed.

A very unusual Easter egg display is taking place currently in the lobby of Republic Federal Savings' head office, 2246 North Lake Avenue, Altadena. In keeping with the season, the display is one of "panoramic eggs" which were decorated by Nadine Shoemaker.

Forty years ago when Mrs. Shoemaker lived on an egg farm she began decorating double yolk eggs as birthday favors for her daughter. Out of this activity grew a continuing interest in egg decoration of all kinds.

The egg exhibit is enclosed in a glass display case 14 inches long by 10 inches wide. Displayed in the case are a variety of eggs featuring Christmas, Silver Anniversary and home bedroom scenes. The scenes are depicted according to the HO scale.

Mrs. Shoemaker attended art classes to study how bread-dough flowers might be used in egg decoration. She has previously exhibited at the Christmas Homecraft Show at Descanso Gardens. Critics acclaim her display as a "show stopper." The artist has been a resident of Altadena since 1913.

Who Introduced Spaghetti To the American Public

If anyone invited you for spaghetti and beer, you might surmise that the menu was inspired by the popularity of foreign cookery or international cuisine. You would be absolutely wrong. This menu comes straight from one of the founders of America — Thomas — Jefferson — who was as noted for his worldly interest in food as for his brilliant concepts in the political field.

Because he was intrigued by the Italian pasta, he brought back a spaghetti-making machine and is credited with introducing spaghetti to this country. That he was fond of beer and served it often at his elegant dinner table was no secret since, eventually, he started his own brewery at Monticello and was complimented for the high quality of the beer he served.

Although there are no accurate "receipts" for the sauce he served, it most surely was not a tomato-based sauce. It is much more likely that he tried to duplicate a classic Italian fish sauce using ingredients which were easily available at home.

In the Colonies, lavish use was made of butter sauces with onion and parsley as favored seasonings. Superb shellfish was always on hand. So an ingenious gourmet cook of the 18th Century would quickly see the possibilities of spaghetti with a butter and crab sauce. Just as surely, the ideal beverage to serve with this dish would be glasses of beer.

Spaghetti With Buttered Crab Sauce: 1 lb. spaghetti ½ cup (1 stick) butter, ½ cup beer, 1 small minced onion, 1/8 tsp. nutmeg, ½ tsp. freshly ground black pepper, dash cayenne pepper, 1 lb. lump crab meat (cartliage removed), ¼ cup coarsely chopped parsley, salt to taste. Cook spaghetti according to package directions in rapidly boiling salted water. In a skillet, melt butter and add onion and beer. Cook over low heat until onion is soft and golden. Add nutmeg, pepper, cayenne and crab meat. Stir to blend and heat gently until crab is piping hot. Stir in parsley and salt to taste, and cook 1 minute more. Pour spaghetti into colander and shake until all the water is drained off. Place in serving dish, pour sauce over hot spaghetti and serve immediately. Yield: 8 servings.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

A salute to TelePrompTer! I've been reading a heap about it. Biggest TV cable company in the nation . . . The Big Brains of the company are dreaming up a lot of wonderful things for us. We can pay to view special programs not on regular commercial TV . . . . Even Tele-medicine . . . . . The younguns, their parents, health worker, and the doctor can all see each other and howdy for a spell.

But the most wonderful of all . . . we can shop at home. By pressing a button can order anything from a pound of bologna to a fur coat. I wonder how we gonna git the stuff into our homes . . . They wouldn't wrap that fur coat around that pound of bologna and send them through a big cable! Well, whatever the method it will be a welcome change from the supermarket struggle.

Now git this! There's gonna be burglary detection. Hope it is a trap and the burglar will hang by his heels. Caution! The Supreme Court just might decide burglary detection to be unconstitutional . . . Goody, according to the plan there would also be fire detection. Wonder if a fire breaks out if a stream of water will be sprayed into the face of the sleeping occupant, and there will be a message, such as "Git up, sleepy head . . . . Now you git . . . ."

These Big Brains are also planning an in-house print-out device . . . Can receive tickets to sports events, theatre tickets, airline reservations pronto . . . .

We are grateful for TelePrompTer service . . . Restful Channel 3 . . . After being blasted by TV commercials it is a comfort to relax by Channel 3 . . . The quiet little "wheels" . . . The soft music . . . Nice to doze by. With Channel 3 who needs sleeping pills . . . . Compliment intended. We would not want to be without the cable service. Most of our favorite programs are not available through our antenna. Why have TV unless you can see all there is to see? The service is not perfect. What is? High winds, electric storms and fires can cause temporary offage. When this happens we press our antenna switch . . . But we are pleased when the cable service is restored. So even if those guys and gals don't perform all those talked-about miracles we'll still like 'em . . . and are happy to extend a big Thank You.

— Lillian B. Sage

Governor's Tax Limitation Proposal Being Attacked

Statement By Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti Press Conference March 28, 1973

I'd like to open this afternoon with a brief statement concerning the Governor's tax limitation proposal.

Obviously, it's no secret that I've expressed grave doubts about the soundness of arbitararily limiting state revenues to a declining percentage of total personal income.

I've also made it clear that an expenditure of $10 million to bring this measure to the people at a special election is highly questionable. To my knowledge no special election has been called for initiative purpose in California history. All initiative purpose in California history. All initiatives have been consolidated with the next Primary or Generai Election — so the Governor is asking for unprecented action to rush through a drastic proposal that would radically change the way we now pay for governmental services.

I've also made it clear that the amendment — in its present form — is contrary to all of the foundation on which our representative form of government has been built and operated on for 200 years.

I think it has operated better than any other form of government in hisory. Ronald Reagan says he doesn't believe it is good enough and he is going to change what our forefathers established.

It's also true that our form of government has provided for the thorough consideration of legislative proposals. Whether we agree or not, those proposals are given full hearing.

As a result, I am asking Assemblyman Joe Gonsalves, chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, to introduce in the Assembly the governor's proposed constitutional amendment so that the Committee may begin intensive study of the bill. It is my understanding that the measure was still being changed until yesterday. Although the basic idea of the initiative has not changed from the beginning, I'm told that many essential details have been substantially modified.

I anticipate the Committee will be ready for public hearings as soon as legally possible.

At the same time, I also want to indicate that it's my intention o begin moving in he Assembly a bill to return to the people of California — in an equitable manner — a major portion of the $850 million surplus. Until we know the full extent of the federal cutbacks and their impact on California, it is, I feel, unwise to totally commit the surplus.

Discussions with the Senate leadership in relation to the surplus also have begun and I'm honeful that we'll be able to reach quick agreement on a bill and send it to the Governor. It's quite likely that a delay in the imposition of the one cent sales tax increase will be the principal means of returning the surplus to the people.

I hope the confusion surrounding the surplus can be separated from the tax initiative. We do not need a constittuional amendment to return that surplus money. The Governor is clearly attaching this to his amendment as a lure for people to vote for it.

Frank Garcias Celebrate Silver Anniversary

Well known, long-time residents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank (Edwina) Garcia, of 185 North Hermosa recently observed their Silver Wedding Anniversary.

To celebrate their 25 years of marriage, an anniversary party was held with members of the immediate family attending. Next door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Don (Katie) Miller were the only guests not family. The friendship between Katie Miller and Edwina Garcia has extended over 30 years from the days of school friendships.) Other guests attending were: the Garcia's son and daughter of the home address, Gilbert and Rebecca; a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Garcia, Temple City; a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Whitney, Sierra Madre; Mrs. Garcia's mother, Mrs. Maria Reyes, Sierra Madre; Mrs. Garcia's aunt, Lucy Chavarria, Sierra Madre; Mrs. Garcia's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Reyes, Covina; and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Hererra, Whittier. And grandcsildren April Whitney and Sean Garcia.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. James Garcia of Sierra Madre. This is Edwina's brother-in-law and Frank's sister-in-law — or would it be easier to say that Mrs. Garcia is Edwin's sister and James Garcia is Frank's brother.

Guests were served a delicious buffet along with pink champagne and a three-tiered anniversary cake decorated with confectioner's roses in the theme colors, yellow and white.

No problem of life has ever been solved by dodging facts and running away from the truth.

Santa Anita Chapter D.A.R. Send Represenative To Wash. Conference

"Twas the 18th of April,
Scarcely a man is now alive
Who remembers that

Thus said Longfellow and he was probably right, but each year thousands of very lively ladies descend on Washington, D.C. for the week which includes April 18, and National D.A.R. Conference is always placed in that week in order to commemorate that famous ride made by Paul Revere.

This year Santa Anita Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution will be represented in Washington, D.C. by Mrs. Leonard J. Black. Mrs. Black will also attend the Children of the American Revolution National Conference as she is national chairman of American literature and a member of the National Awards Committee. While in Washington, Mrs. Black will visit her daughter and son-in-law, Valerie and Gary Roche. Valerie is a past president of Mark Hopkins Society, Children of the American Revolution.

While the delegates to Washington are thrilling to the famous descent of the Flag from the domed ceiling of Constitution Hall, the members who remained at home will go on with the work, building for next year.

Mrs. Herbert D. Anderson will welcome Santa Anita Chapter, DAR to her home on April 19, their 23rd birthday. Two Good Citizenship Awards will be presented, and a review of the DAR State Conference will be given.

Gas Company Pays Property Tax To County

Southern California Gas Co. and an affiliate paid more than $7.1 million to Los Angeles County this week for their second installment property taxes, according to Norm Wyckoff, San Gabriel Valley Division manager for the gas company.

With the second installment, the utilities' total property tax payment to the county for 1972-73 amounted to more than $14.7 million, Wyckoff said. The affiliate, Pacific Lighting Service Co., owns gas transmission and storage facilities which provide gas supplies to the gas company.

Altogether, throughout the utilities' Southern and Central California service area, the firms paid more than $26 million in property taxes to local government agencies.

In A Series of Six

Senator Richardson Makes Report On Criminal Justice

By Senator H. L. "Bill" Richardson

The following address, which I gave before the California Peace Officers and Chief of Police convention on February 7th in Sacramento, was warmly received and there have been numerous requests for copies from law enforcement and the news media. Because of the interest displayed, I am making it the subject of the Richardson Reports in six parts. This is Part V of the series.

California has been experimenting with a passel of new rehabilitation programs. One of these is the work furlough concept. This is where a felon who is within six months of release is put into a minimum security setting where he works in the community during the day and sleeps in the security facility at night. The object is to place him back into the community under controlled conditions. The felon is on his honor, so to speak.

The Don Lugo Center at the Chino Correctional Facility ((minimum prison) was such an experiment. It wasn't long before murders, robberies, narcotic violations, etc., were being attributed to the "students" at Don Lugo. it only took eleven short months before the Attorney General's office was asked to investigate. Aware of the desire to integrate the facility with the women's prison at Corona, California, our office took steps to instigate this investigation in order to stop this tragic experimental failure before more damage was done.

During the time that Don Lugo was in existence, the inmates brought narcotics, dangerous drugs and liquor in the center, and freely indulged in their use. There were three confirmed incidents where inmates were in possession of handguns on the grounds. The inmates wrote and signed their own passes and furloughs. $7,512 in state funds is missing as inmates were allowed access to cash, files and funds.

On thousand dollars of that money can be directly traced to embezzlement by a five-time loser for forgery, who was in charge of the state and inmate funds at Don Lugo.

No, I am not making this up. It is all on record, and more. Inmate clerical personnel were encouraged and allowed to handle the inmate central files, records and finances.

"High on trust, low on fear."

There was no staff personnel supervision from 1 a.m. until 5 a.m. Prostitutes were brought into the camp by the inmates to share their quarters. Food was stolen from the kitchen and sold . . . and these are just part of the sins committed in Don Lugo during the eleven months it was open, where supposedly inmates at the end of their sentences were being prepared for integration into the outside world.

The Orange City Police Department reported burglarization and arson with a loss of $250,000 by two Don Lugo inmates . . . shortly after which the same two inmates shot and killed a man while attempting to rob him and his wife. The Pomona Police Department reported Don Lugo inmmates had committed three armed robberies, eleven burglaries and eight narcotic law violations. And that's just a small part of the record of "integration into the community" by the inmates.

When it was eventually closed, investigating officers found inmates from one of the other correctional institutions in the area chiseling off the mosaic face of the concrete name marker in front of the center. I am reminded of Lady Macbeth wringing her hands and moaning, "Out damned spot . . ." or Omar Khayyam's, "Nor all your piety nor wit shall lure back to cancel half a line, nor all your tears wash out a word of it."

Don Lugo does not stand alone or isolated. It is merely one eruption of the Department of Corrections' thinking and total philosophy. It should stand in glaring light as a tragic and terrible reminder of what can and has happened because of this philosophy.

Let us not cancel half a line of the mistakes made there. Let no ears be shed for the unworthy and undeserving to wash out a word of the 200 page report of the sins of contemporary penology inflicted on an unsuspecting community by Don Lugo's "experiment."

It is long past time to reaffirm some basic truths: It is morally wrong to steal, to lie and to cheat. It is evil to wilfully harm another human. It is a sin to murder and it is sinful when you don't hold a man accountable for his actions. Civilization and human society can only exist when those who destroy the citizens' individual rights are quickly and effectively punished We will conquer . . . or we will be crushed by the contemporary barbarians.

I believe we deserve a better fate.

Common sense has long been one of America's antidotes to its ills — personal accountability another.

I suggest we take a large dose of both.

It's about time for mothers to conclude they're glad the "dear little things" are back in school.

Earthquake Bills!

The threat of instant destruction of life and property that hangs over 72 million Americans who live in areas where a major earthquake could strike at any moment could be greatly reduced by three bills introduced Thursday, April 5 in Washington, D.C.

The bills would:

(1) Establish a five-year seismic project along California's San Andreas Fault and major arteries that run into Nevada. Scientists are studying this fault because it is the most active U.S. fault. They hope the study will give them the know-how to predict the time of an earthquake anywhere in the U.S. within three days and the location within a 20-mile radius of the main shock. That would allow local officials to turn off gas and electricity, lower water levels in dams, and evacuate potentially dangerous structures.

(2) Launch the federal government on a earthquake engineering research program to make buildings, bridges and dams better able to withstand major earthquakes.

(3) Contains similar elements of both the preceding bills and also would expand federal efforts to map faults and identify hazards where earthquakes are most likely to occur. Hollings is co-sponsoring Cranston's bills and Cranston is co-sponsoring Hollings' bill.

Hollings, chairman of the Commerce Oceans and Atmosphere Subcommitte where the three bills will be referred, said he plans to combine the strongest elements of each measure into a comprehensive Hollings-Cranston Earthquake Act.

Hearings on the bills have been scheduled in Los Angeles on April 26 and in San Francisco April 27. All three bills were initially introduced in the last session of Congress.

"Every state in the Union has suffered earthquake damage," Cranston said, "and 35 per cent of our population — some 72 million people including all 21 million Californians — live in areas where a major earthquake could strike at any moment. One of the worst U.S. quakes on record," he noted. "was near New Madrid, Mo., where strong shaking occurred for a one-year period in 1811-1812."

'If another major earthquake were to strike San Francisco. which is almost inevitable," Cranston continued, "100,000 deaths and injuries could result. Property damage would be astronomical. Like Managua, Nicaragua, it might be necessary to bulldoze San Francisco and start over again."

Cranston noted that the moderate San Fernando earthquake of February 9, 1971, killed 64 people and caused more than $500 million in damage. If the shaking had lasted two seconds longer, Cranston said, the Van Norman Dam in the San Fernando Valley would have collapsed released 3.6 billion gallons of water over an area where 80,000 Californians live.

Cranston's earthquake prediction bill would authorize $12 million annually over five years for use by the U.S. Geological Survey. It would provide for equipment, research and development, and deployment of a series of monitoring stations along the San Andreas Fault that slices 600 miles through the heart of the state from the Gulf of California — through the cities of Los Angeles and San Francisco — to a point in Mendocino County. Data gathered from the stations would be analyzed for conditions indicating the likelihood that an earthquake would occur. Another $1 million is authorized in the bill to set up the early warning system.

Cranston noted that a smaller project similar to the program he advocates is being conducted by the USGC based in Menlo Park, Calif. The USGS on March 22 predicted an earthquake of 4.5 magnitude within the next six months in a rural area south of San Francisco. The location is near the town of Holister which straddles the San Andreas Fault. Four moderate shocks have occurred along this segment of the fault since December 1971, Cranston said.

Cranston's earthquake engineering bill would authorize $10 million annually over the next three years for construction research by the National Science Foundation.

"With new construction in the U.S. proceeding at the rate of more than $70 billion a year, we are in urgent need of new building codes and advanced designs to help avoid collapses during quakes," Cranston said. "We can minimize deaths and injuries with proper construction. With every passing day our knowledge lag in this area is contributing to the construction of more unsafe buildings. bridges and dams."

For Light Tomorrow

It would be difficult to document a denial that the nation faces a severe energy problem. It seems even more difficult to find a realistic solution that will please everyone.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company has put the problem into everyday perspective in an advertisement with the thought provoking title "You can no longer take for granted what you've always taken for granted."

Specifically, PG&E is referring to household electricity. "Touch a switch and the electricity goes on," the ad copy reads. "You do it every day without even thinking about it because electricity is always there." And it will be there through 1979 in California because PG&E and Southern California Edison Co. and other electric utilities have in construction or planning stages sufficient new electric facilities to meet growing public needs and consumer demand through that period.

If the continued planning is delayed or stopped by environmental protests. then brownouts and blackouts become a very real possibility; yes, probability. It takes about ten years to put a new electric power plant "on the line," from site acquisition through regulatory approvals and construction.

Some there are who advocate stopping growth, althought they come up with no rational suggestions as to who is going to give up what in order to achieve that brake on life as we know it. Others merely close their eyes to the realities of life and see only the sanctity of the environment.

To these unrealists the federal Office of Emergency Preparedness has said the nation must find and maintain a precise, rational balance between environmental protection and economic necessity. We must consider the interest of labor and the other economic and social aspects of their proposals.

Growth and progress won't stop, but the supply of energy to meet our needs tomorrow well may if we don't plan and build for it today.

CARROT TOP By Robert Evans

You are a person with special skills . . . and this can mean special problems. You are confronted with a variety of situations such as extreme weather conditions, long hours, the demands and impatience of competition and we all have competitors, regardless of what walk of life we are treading . . . these pressures . . . if allowed to . . . can restrict your abilities and your effectiveness.

— CT —

These are factors, however, that many of us have to come to terms with. Some fail, but many others succeed. The reason they do is because they are motivated people.

— CT —

I speak now of PERSONAL motivation. The degree of success you attain in fulfilling your objectives is directly related to how hard you are willing to work.

— CT —

Many people would call this "self-sacrifice." I prefer to call it what it really is . . . . . "self-enrichment." Working hard to reach your goals is not a sacrifice. It is an honorable and rewarding way of using your skills and talents.

— CT —

This philosophy of work . . . . while it may not earn us a place in the history books along with Paul Revere . . . It can help us realize our personal professional goals.

— CT —

And this little sermon goes along with another one that many times during the years is expressed by some, so I am going to connect it to the one above and get it off my mind.

— CT —

If you work for a man or for a project, for Heaven's sake work for him or for the project. If working for a man and he pays you wages that supply you bread and butter, work for him; speak well of him; stand by him and stand by the institution he represents.

— CT —

If put to a pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness. If you must vilify, condemn and eternally disparge, why not resign your position and when you are outside, damn to your heart's content. This is also applicable to belonging to a group, club or organization.

— CT —

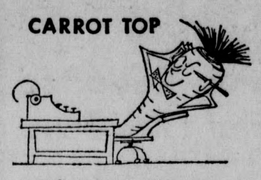

But as long as you are a part of the institution, do not condemn it. If you do, you are loosening the tendrils that hold you to the institution, and he first high wind that comes along, you will be uprooted and blown away in the blizzard's track, and probably you will never know why . . . think it over.

— CT —

Now here is a good one . . . Politicians tell us that "talk is cheap," but we find that they have not heard of this in Washington, D.C. From January 15 through July 31 of the last session of Congress, a total of 25,098 pages of proceedings and "extensions of remarks" were printed in the Congressional Record.

speeches lamenting the excessive government spending . . . . . Can you imagine such a thing, but it is true.

In the recent School Election, it was interesting to see all of the dirt that the candidates dug up about each other. Many facts were taken out of context and moulded to fit any number of situations . . . it was up to the voter to sift through the rubble and come up with what he thought was the truth and what was wanted by the people . . . and he voted accordingly.

Sierra Madre gave its ear, heart, conscience and front pages to the protestor. But, below the din . . . Each day your mail is in your box; the bread is on the rack; the firefighters answers your call; the police are on duty; the teacher heads her class; the soldier answer muster; the waiter brings your soup; the copper gets mined, and cars get built.

While critics go merrily down the river intoning, "We're heading for Armageddon," human beings of higher character and many backgrounds do their jobs, pay their taxes, educate their chlidren, invent, patch, scratch, plan, plow . . . and make this country tick! . . . And don't you ever forget it.

— CT —

You know, I was thinking the other day, not that I intend to do it, or even think about doing it, but . . . Any man in these days of high prices and high taxes, who already has a wife and two children, who is able to keep both women reasonably happy by dividing his time between two households and five dependents on a weekly income of $140 and such part-time earnings as he can bring in . . . any man who can do all this is more deserving of admiration than censure . . . Brother, you better believe it.

Here is an interesting item that was received from the University of California, and it shows what man can do if he settles down to do something. Plant breeders of the University trying to improve on nature's handiwork have now developed a tomato five inches long and two inches wide.

— CT —

They tell us that it looks like a bright red bologna sausage and its shape is supposed to make it more adaptable to machine picking and processing. But how much better it will be for consumers, too. It will slice easier and give nice uniform slices. When you think of it, surely nature made a mistake in the first place by making tomatoes round. With this great accomplishment you can look forward to the improvement of the onion.

The telephone rang in the maternity ward and a very excited voice came through. "This is Harold Smith, and I'm bringing my wife in . . . she's about to have a baby!"

— CT —

"Calm down," the attendant said, "Tell me, is this her first baby?" "No," the anxious voice replied. "This is her husband!" . . . and sometimes this is the way things happen.

Meat Price Ceilings To Be Posted

Retail stores are expected to have legible meat ceiling price lists posted at all times, F. S. Schmidt, Internal Revenue Service District Director for Southern California said recently.

"We recognize that some stores, particularly the smaller retailers, may face difficulties in computing their ceiling prices," Schmidt said.

"If price lists are not propertly posted, customers should question the store manager. If price lists are not posted within a reasonable time, consumers then should call their local IRS office," Schmidt said.

IRS investigators will check out complaints of non-posting, in addition to regular spot checks.

"Posters must be located within the department or departments where fresh and processed meat items are sold," Schmidt said. Posting for all other controlled items such as canned ham, chipped beef, etc., should be located in an area at least adjacent to where they are found.

All fresh meat items must be posted. Processed meat lists must show ceiling prices of a minimum of 25 items accounting for 75 per cent of sales. Lists of other controlled items must display the top ten selling items. The ceiling price for all other controlled products must be readily available at an accessible location within the store.

More than 90 dental hygiene and dental assisting students at Loma Linda University participated in capping ceremonies Sunday morning, April 15, in Loma Linda. The annual ceremony began at 10:30 in the Campus Hill Chuch on the Loma Linda campus.

I just read a publication in Arizona that made the following obesrvation . . . There are over 200 million Americans in this country, and they are not all bad . . . As some would make you think. Over 68-million are gainfully employed. There are over 180-million who are not communists. More than 40-million coupies will remain married and more than 178-million will not die of cancer. Over 50-million auto drivers will still be alive at the end of this year, and over 2-million new homes are being built to house 2-million happy newlyweds. So . . . CHEER UP . . . your chances of reaching the age 85 are excellent, and just think almost 20 years of Social Security checks.

— CT —

In closing the column for this week let me pause to remark . . . "I do not believe the greatest threat to our future is from bombs or guided missiles. I don't think our civilization will die that way. I think it will die when we no longer CARE. Nineteen of 21 civilzations have died from within and not by conquest from without. There were no bands playing and flags waving when these civilizations decayed. It happened slowly, in the quiet and the dark when no one was aware." . . . Always care, I hope, I hope, I hope.

Letters To the Editor . .

Dear Editor:

Everything is now expensive. Prices and wages are soaring. We call it "Inflation." What causes this inflation? Well, according to Congressman Wilbur Mills, deficit spending (overspending beyond tax income) is the sole basic cause of inflation.

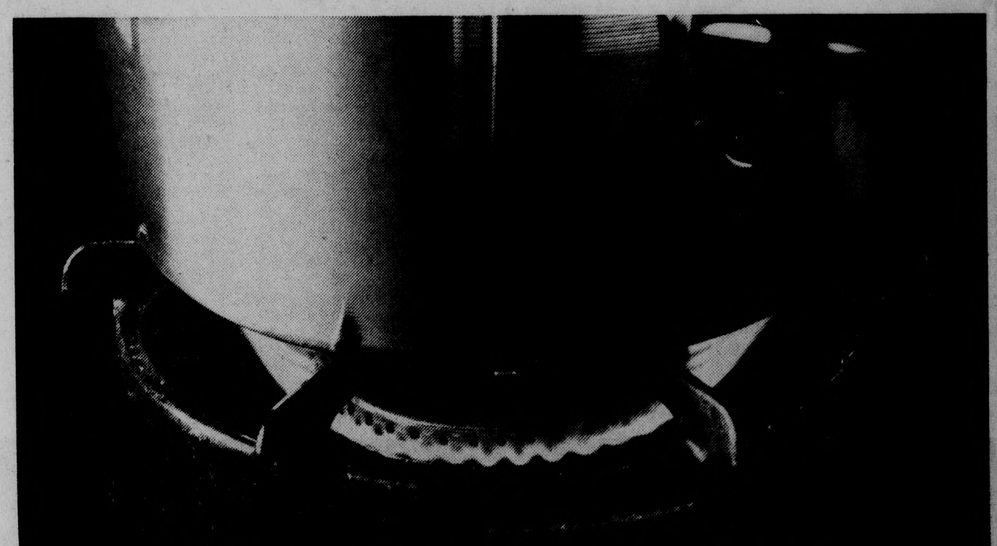

How can we stop it? It can be done by Congress making it illegal for the Federal Reserve Bank to convert government debt (i.e. bonds) into currency and by prohibiting the Federal Reserve Bank from using government bonds as the basis for bank credit. The cause of inflation is the increase of money and credit. The cure is to stop increasing money and credit, plus ending extravagant reckless government spending. It's as simple as that! Ask your representatives in Congress why they don't do it and stop this ruinous inflation.

With the decrease in inflation, your income will also be increased proportionately.

Heat from cold: Huge deposits of natural gas have been discovered in places like Alaska, Northwest Canada and the Canadian Arctic Islands. We can bring some of it here in tankers. Some through a pipeline. And we've been involved in extensive Arctic research to find out the best way to build that pipeline without harming the environment.

Storage: We store gas in underground storage fields in the summer so you'll have enough for the winter.

Substitute gas from natural resources: Coal gasification is simply the reaction of coal with oxygen and hydrogen from steam in a suitable reactor. The result, a methane gas, is then purified to produce clean-burning substitute gas. Gas from coal. With all the properties of natural gas.

Gas from Indonesia: This project could bring up to one billion cubic feet per day of natural gas (in liquid form) to the West Coast of the United States.

LNG from Australia: In the Palm Valley field of Central Australia, there may be as much as 10 trillion cubic feet of natural gas. If the gas proves to be there, and the Australian and U.S. Governments approve, this supply could be converted to liquid form and shipped home via specially constructed tankers.

Gas from Central and South America: Although somewhat less far along than other sources, Latin American gas is still a very real possibility. Our plans call for drilling test wells in Panama and Colombia soon.

This country is facing an energy shortage. And it includes natural gas.

Does that mean the Gas Company is running out?

Not exactly. But we'll have to go to the ends of the earth in order to keep those home fires burning.

In fact, in a few years, the gas that supplies the flame that supplies the heat that cooks your roast may come from Alaska. Or Indonesia. Or Australia. It'll be natural gas that we reduce to a liquid and ship home in tankers.

Or maybe it'll be substitute gas produced from coal.

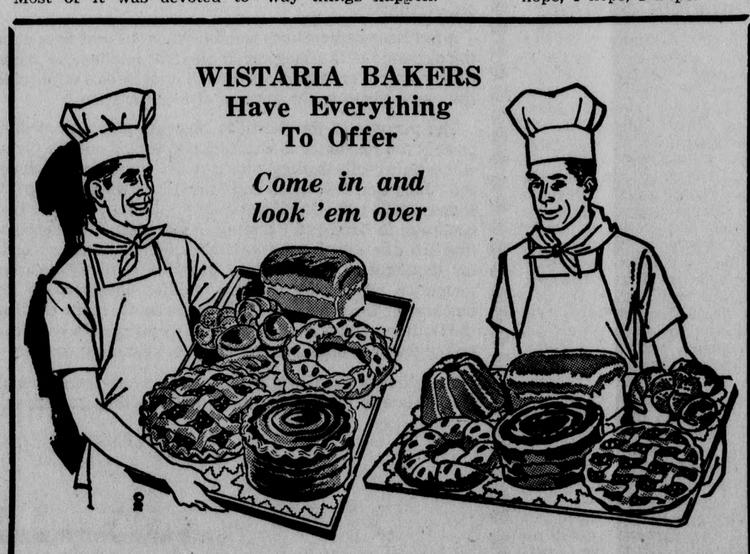

Whichever, it's obviously going to cost more. But we think you'll agree that it's a lot better than no gas. Especially since it'll still be your most economical energy source. And one of the cleanest.

As far as your immediate needs are concerned, we'll be able to supply all our "firm" customers, such as homes and businesses. But until we have those new supplies coming in, we will have to interrupt deliveries more often to our industrial customers who are equipped to switch to other fuels whenever "firm" customers' needs require.

Senior Scouts Attend Conference In Malibu; Three Locals In Attendance

Lori Dunning, Alicia Munger and Heather Stratton were among 170 Senior Scouts who attended an Art in the Round conference at Mount Crags in Malibu.

An innovation for the annual affair was a rock band concert which opened the conference Friday, April 6.

Saturday was a session of workshops with each girl participating in five of her choice. Mrs. Loretta Castano, La Canada, taught candlemaking; Mrs. Pat McCummins, Temple City, worked with clay. The art of making molds in wax was shown by Mrs. Jennifer Thompson, Alhambra. Decoupage, the art of shellacking paper onto wood blocks, was taught by Mrs. Genie Johnson, Artesia, wood carving by Joe Bruce, Orange and stage make-up by Mrs. Sharon Potter, Pasadena.

Karate defensive moves were taught in the seventh workshop by Joon Jii of the American Hapkido Karate in Pasadena. Jii, a black belt, demonstrated many defensive moves. The girls were able to practice three while Jii and his assistants corrected them.

Girls from Mrs. Gail DeForests' modern dance class at Blair High School, Pasadena, gave the evening program. Many girls in the audience joined for improvised modern dance and the Blair girls stayed for folk dancing with the Scouts.

Sunday morning was the time for the traditional Scout's Own, followed by a flag ceremony. A Scout's Own is inspirational and expresses its theme through words or song. "I Care" was the theme with the thread of thought that people in the world do not care much anymore.

Ladonna Baumer, Alhambra, and the senior core committee were in charge of planning the conference.

We believe most people are realy for summer this year.

A Hard Fought Battle For All

Equal Education Reported By Senate Prexy Pro Tem

By Senator James R. Mills

The need for equalizing the cost of California's public education has not become less urgent but may be more difficult because of a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision.

In its Rodriquez case, the U.S. high court ruled that the right to an equal education was not guaranteed by the federal constitution. This ruling seemed to void California's Supreme Court Serrano - Priest decision wherein the principle of equal education for all was established.

But the U.S. court's decision has little legal bearing on California's school financing dilemma. The Serrano-Priest decision was reached after the court interpreted the state, and not just the U.S. constitution, and is likely to stand.

But those wealthy school districts which have fought hard to delay compliance with the Serrano decision may use the Rodriguez decision as a new weapon in their psychological arsenal.

The wealthy districts are fighting hard to maintain a present school financing system at the expense of poorer districts. If these opponents to change have their way, we will continue to support quality education for some and a lower education for others.

Perhaps the classic example of this is the comparison of tax rates and spending in Beverly Hills and Baldwin Park, both in Los Angeles County. With a school tax rate of slightly less than three dollars per one hundred dollars of assessed value, Beverly Hills is able to raise enough to spend nearly $1,800 to educate each of its children.

Baldwin Park, with a tax rate of nearly five dollars, can affodd to spend only $680 per child. In other words, the citizens of Baldwin Park are making nearly twice the tax effort of citizens in Beverly Hills but, for that double effort, they are able to buy much less than half the schooling that Beverly Hills can afford.

This situation is not the widest disaprity in California, nor is it unusual. There are probably examples of it within your own county.

But this is the kind of school financing wealthy district would like to keep. They claim that equalizing the quality of education would make it difficult for them to get bond issues passed. They issue dire warnings of state takeover of the schools or some hideously high state property tax, but it seems clear to me that we do not have to go to those extremes.

Last year, each of the bills that proposed some kind of compliance with the Serrano guidelines received bipartisan support from across the ideological spectrum. This kind of broad-based support is essential to formulating a workable plan because there is no question that reform means taking from the "haves" to give to the "have nots" and that cannot be achieved politically in an atmosphere of ideological rigidity and antagonism. It must be the result of compromise and accommodation.

'Eye of Youth' Seen At State Science Museum

Imagine a ceramic Don Quixote jousting with windmills. A papier-mache set of jacks with a ball two feet in circumference. Or how about two life-size Raggedy Ann and Andy dolls?

These are some of the 450 artistic creation by Catholic High School students in the Third Annual Catholic High School art show "Eye of Youth," at the California Museum of Science and Industry, Exposition Park, Los Angeles. On view from Wednesday, April 18 through Sunday, April 29.

Students in grades 9-12 competed equally for first, second and third places in all art categories and for first, second, and third Best of Show.

The eighteen art categories judged included oils, plastics, transparent and opaque water colors, pencil drawing, ink drawing; pastels, crayon, charcoal, chalk; mixed media, printmaking, graphic design, fashion design, textile design, sculpture, pottery, jewelry, crafts, calligraphy and photography.

The judging was on April 7 in the South Hall of the Space Museum. Judges were selected from the graduate art department of USC, Otis Art Insittute and Art Center. There were also judges from the professional world of art.

"Eye of Youth" is sponsored by the archdiocese of Los Angeles.

The museum is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Are You Operating Your Business Under A Fictitious Name?

If So You Must Re-Register it Now!
See News Article Below

New Law in effect:

A prediction that 300,000 firms doing business in California under fictitious trade names will re-file under the new fictitious firm name law was made this week by William G. Sharp, county clerk of Los Angeles County. Sharp is chairman of a committee of county clerks which has been preparing procedures for the new statute.

The new requirement for re-filing of all firm names goes into effect July 1, 1971, but Sharp said the filings will be accepted by the county clerk's offices beginning Monday, and he urged early filing in order to avoid the rush just before the July 1 deadline. The filing fee under the new law will be $10. Filings must be renewed hereafter at five year intervals.

The Los Angeles county clerk also pointed out that the historic publication requirement has been continued under the new law and that publication of the statement once a week for four successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the neighborhood of the affected business is required whenever there has been any change in the information contained in the certificate previously filed. Publication will not be required in instances where there has been no change in the information carried in the old certificate.

A fictitious name, Sharp pointed out, is one that does not include the surname of the operator or one that implies the existence of other owners; or, if a corporation, if it includes a name other than the name given in the articles of incorporation.

The purpose of the fictitious business name procedure is to protect the consumer in enabling him to find out the person with whom he is really dealing, Sharp said. If he has been defrauded by the "John Doe Television and Time Clock Repair Shop" and the shop is really owned and operated by "Richard Roe" or the "East Ganawanda Land and Farming Corporation," the consumer can find in the fictitious name statement information for bringing suit for damages. The procedure provides a ready source of information concerning identity realities obscured by fictitious business or trade names. Most banks now require evidence that the fictitious filing and publication requirements have been met before they will open an account under a fictitious name.

The office of each county clerk will furnish forms required by the new law or information and forms from this newspaper.

Sections 17900-17930 of Business and Professions Code in Effect Jan. 1, 1971*

Refiling Dead-Line July 1, 1971

County Clerk's Filing Fee is $10 for Re-Filing or New Filing*

Publication Charge Will Be $23.00 If Publication Required.

*Old civil code sections prevail in part until July 1, with filing charge of $2.00. Only a single publication required for interim $2 filing and for the prospective $10 refiling.
